This means that the applicant organization must be the sole responsible for managing the funds; all the expenditures and procurement must be conducted by the applicant organization.

If you have included partner organizations in your project, these organizations can participate in the design and implementation of the activities; however, no funds should be transferred to them. All expenses related to partners’ involvement must be directly processed and managed by the awarded organization.

Do the proposed projects need to be implemented in both Governorates?

No, it is not necessary. However, it is allowed as long as it is all submitted as one project proposal.

Do the proposed projects need to be implemented in all locations of the targeted Governorate/s?

No, projects do not have to be implemented in all listed locations of each Governorate. Targeting at least one (1) of the suggested locations is enough to comply with the criteria. Only one project proposal should be submitted in cases of targeting more than one location.

Can projects be implemented in only one (1) location?

It is possible to propose projects targeting only one (1) location when applying for Lot 1 and Lot 2 (small and medium grants). However, the larger the grant, the more positively it will be considered if more than one location is included.

Targeting multiple locations is highly encouraged for organizations applying for Lot 3 (Large organizations) – See Selection Criteria in the Guidelines for Applicants.

Is it possible to choose a different location within the chosen Governorate/s?

Yes, it is possible to choose different locations if at least one of these is indeed in the provided locations list (section 4.2 in the Guidelines for Applicants). Only one project proposal should be submitted in cases of targeting more than one location.

Can projects propose activities to be implemented in Baghdad?

The only activities which can be implemented in Baghdad are those tackling Advocacy (Stream 3) (section 4.2 of Guidelines for Applicants).

Can proposed projects target all three (3) Streams?

Yes, it is possible to work on one, several or all Streams. Organizations applying for Lot 3 (large) grants will be positively considered if their proposed work includes more than one of the mentioned Streams (see Selection Criteria).

Can organizations propose activities which they had not implemented in the past?

Although organizations can propose activities which they had not previously implemented, during the review of proposals the experience of the interested NGO will be considered. Applicants proposing activities for which they have expertise will be positively evaluated.

When tackling GBV issues, it is not expected from NGOs to have full expertise in the proposed activities (Naseej aims at strengthening the capacity of local organizations), but applicants must prove they apply minimum standards.

Is it possible to apply as a network or consortium of organizations?

Partnerships

Organizations that want to propose a proposal jointly with other organizations, can do that by including the other organizations as partners.

Only 1 organization can officially apply. Partner organizations can participate and contribute to the project activities, however only the applicant organization can receive the funding and manage it. This means for example, that all the expenses related to activities must be done by the Applicant Organization. It is not possible for example, to pay Partner organizations’ salaries through Naseej Grant Scheme. It is not possible to transfer funding to partners.

Also, informal groups and networks can be included as partners in the proposals.
Applicant organization must lead and be the main implementer in all the project activities. It is not possible to propose activities in the project in which the Applicant Organization does not participate.

Example: the local CSO X wants to propose a project in 3 locations in Diyala governorate. Since the local CSO X wants to include activities with youth, it decides to propose to local CSO A to join the project as a partner. CSO A is a small grassroots organization that works in 1 of the project locations especially with youth. For this reason, CSO A offers to support CSO X in the organization of one of the project’s activity which is a series of cultural events for youth promoting gender equality. CSO X will design and organize the events in collaboration with CSO A; all the costs of these activities will be paid by CSO X and purchases will be also done by CSO X.
